Smart TV, Game Consoles and Media Players

Living rooms are getting more and more populated by smart devices which have functions your ordinary remote was never designed for, like browsing the internet, using apps or social networking. With the Trust Adura you can fully experience all these functions from the comfort of your couch.

Keyboard & Trackball

Have you ever tried to type a website address or navigate menus with your ordinary remote control? You probably had to select each letter or menu function one by one, taking forever. The Adura wireless keyboard offers a compact keyboard with trackball which allows you to have access to all letters, characters and mouse functions at once.
