Marketing

Extended retailer text	Is your favourite pair of headphones a wired pair, but your brand new smartphone doesn't have a built-in headphone connection? With the Rive Bluetooth receiver you can add a Bluetooth connection to every wired headphone. No 3.5mm headphone connection needed!
-------------------------------	--

There's no need to throw away your favourite headphones! Just plug the 3.5mm plug of your headphone into the Rive Bluetooth receiver and connect the receiver to your smartphone's Bluetooth. Now you can use your wired headphones to listen to music on your iPhone 7.

Hands-free calling & playing music

The Rive Bluetooth receiver is perfect for hands-free calling thanks to its built-in microphone. Use the spring clip to attach the receiver to your hiking bag or running trousers and put your phone away safely in your bag or pocket during a workout. Use the buttons on the receiver to pick up calls, adjust the volume and to control your music.

With its 10 metres range, you can pick up calls and listen to your music as long as your phone is in the same room with you. No need to keep it close or hold it in your hands while walking around your living room or preparing dinner.

Long battery life

The Rive Bluetooth Receiver has a long battery life allowing you to listen to your music for 8 hours or call for 10 hours. The stand by-time of the receiver is 280 hours. It will last through any busy day or workout. The receiver can easily be charged using the supplied USB-cable. The battery level will be indicated on your phone once you connect the receiver, so you'll know when it should be charged again.
